

Private Family Placement

Puppies, Adult Dogs, Therapy and Emotional Support Dogs, and Select Cats

Private family placements are offered selectively and begin with a match process and conversation, not a transaction. This process is designed to ensure alignment, readiness, and long-term success for both the animal and the family. Our goal is not speed or volume, but thoughtful placement rooted in structure, calm leadership, and relationship.

Before You Begin

This match questionnaire helps us determine alignment, readiness, and long-term suitability for a private family placement. This is not a screening for perfection. It is a process for clarity, stability, shared values, and appropriate fit. All information is kept confidential.

Step 1: Review the Placement Philosophy

Before beginning, families are asked to review our placement philosophy in full. We prioritize calm nervous system development, orientation to the family, structure before freedom, and relationship over performance. Placement decisions are based on temperament, lifestyle compatibility, and long-term success.

Step 2: Complete the Match Questionnaire

The questionnaire helps us understand your household, lifestyle, expectations, and openness to structure and guidance. This is not a test. It is a tool for mutual clarity. All information is kept confidential.

Step 3: Review and Conversation

Questionnaires are reviewed carefully and intentionally. When alignment appears strong, a private conversation may be scheduled to clarify goals, discuss timing, and explore appropriate placement paths. This process begins with dialogue, not a transaction.

Step 4: Selective Placement and Next Steps

Because this work is relationship driven and resource intensive, private family placements are offered selectively. When a match moves forward, next steps may include timing discussions, preparation guidance, training support options, and transition planning. Not all inquiries move forward, and that is intentional.

Who This Placement Process Is For

This process is designed for individuals and families who value long-term success over speed, structure over chaos, and relationship over convenience. It is well suited for those open to guidance, preparation, and ongoing learning. This is not a rapid placement or impulse adoption model.

Ready to Begin

If this approach resonates with your values and expectations, you are invited to begin the match process.